design hotel phones

A drama !

The hotel phones are still charmless, despite the fact that you pay more and more attention to the atmosphere and design of your rooms.

The design of each detail is now crucial to be different, and to bring this little extra that turns the user experience into something really unique and unforgettable. Many hotels design offer elegant furniture and accessories such as Bose sound systems or Loewe television, bringing an increased perceived value to the room.

Xenios is the first brand providing you design hospitality phones, customizable according to your desire, with different colors and materials, to propose an approach without compromise on your decor.
